Servers were reintroduced into the game when V1.0.15 was launched (however, versions as early as Alpha v1.0.5 had multiplayer code in them, although it was unusable, except for the notch, which used the code to test the multiplayer), and has been constantly updated since then. This is because when these versions have been added (in 2013), the meta-inf had to be renewed. The following is a list of versions that are not included in the Java Edition spanner. This launcher can not update, and every time a new update was released to the spanner, a player would have to download it from minecraft.net.
